Modi & Putin lunar summit

PRICE TO MOON

In a way it may look like a friendly race to the moon. Just when India's Chandrayaan-3 is preparing to touch down on the moon's surface, Russia launched a space craft on Friday for the first time in nearly half a century. It is expected to land on the lunar surface on August 21, two days ahead of India's mission.

Though India launched Chandrayaan-3 on July 14, much ahead, Russia's Luna-25 mission has used a much more powerful Soyuz rocket to dash to the moon in a short span of 10 days.

Incidentally, Russia's robotic lander will attempt a touchdown in the moon's South Pole - the same region which India is also eyeing. This is an area suspected to have repositories of frozen water - a discovery made by India's earlier lunar-orbiting missions. The Luna-25 objective is to scoop samples of moon rock and dust. The samples are crucial to understanding the moon's environment ahead of building any base there.

Though the mission had been 'work in progress' for years, before Russia invaded Ukraine, the timing is significant and analysts say it sets President Putin's move to rebuke Russia's great power status.

The Luna is to reach the moon and enter orbit on August 16, and then attempt to land on the surface as early as August 21. Meanwhile, India's Chandrayaan-3 is expected to reach a 100 km orbit around the Moon by August 16 after which the Propulsion Module will separate from the Lander for the latter's final landing approach in the days that follow. The primary objective of Chandrayaan-3 is to demonstrate a safe and soft landing on the lunar surface and to operate a rover for approximately one lunar day or 14 Earth days.

Congratulations, Roscosmos on the successful launch of Luna-25. Wonderful to have another meeting point in our space journey-walks for both nations to achieve goals. -RSD

MANIPUR: Meira Paibis protests over gangrape of 37-yr-old woman

IMPHAL: Meira Paibis, a collective of Meitei women, on Friday staged sit-in demonstrations across five districts of Imphal Valley in protest against the alleged gangrape of a 37-year-old woman in Churachandpur on May 3.

when the ongoing ethnic violence flared. The survivor alleged she was gangraped by a group of men while fleeing her burning house in Khumujamba Leikai in Churachandpur, police said.

An FIR was lodged with Bishnupur women police station on August 9 and the matter was later forwarded to Churachandpur police station for investigation, they said.

The Supreme Court collegium has recommended transfer of 23 judges of different high courts, including Gujarat High Court Justice Hemant M. Prachhach who had dismissed Rahul Gandhi's plea seeking a stay on his conviction in a 2019 criminal defamation case over his 'Modi surname' remark.

The collegium, headed by Chief Justice of India (CJI) D. Y. Chandrachud and comprising Justices Surya Kishan Kaul, Sanjiv Khanna, B. R. Gavai and Surya Kant, in its meeting held on August 9 recommended transfer of nine judges of the high courts to the Allahabad High Court.

According to a collegium resolution uploaded on the apex court website, out of these nine names, four are from the Allahabad High Court, while four are from the Punjab and Haryana High Court. The other judge is from the Allahabad High Court.

The collegium has recommended transfer of Justice Prachhach from the Gujarat High Court to the Allahabad High Court, the resolution said.

While dismissing the plea, Justice Prachhach had noted that Gandhi was already facing 10 criminal cases across India, adding that the order of the lower court was 'just, proper and legal' in handing over a two-year jail term to Gandhi for his remarks.

Later on August 4, the Gujarat High Court had stayed Gandhi's conviction in a 2019 defamation case over his Modi surname remark, paving the way for revival of his Lok Sabha membership.

According to the collegium resolution, other judges of the Gujarat High Court - Justices Alpesh Y. Kogte, Kumar Gita Gopi and Samir J. Dave - have been recommended to be transferred to the high courts of Allahabad, Madras and Rajasthan respectively.

TACT UNDERSTANDING

Whether there was some kind of tacit understanding between India and Russia on the lunar 'race' is yet to be confirmed. Some analysts say the 'lunar rendezvous' a meticulously drawn script by President Putin and close aide PM Modi. President Putin is looking at the moon launch as a miniature test of the country's ability to chart a new path. Moreover, it helps dispel the impression that Western sanctions and the war have starved the country of foreign capital and technology. "The Russian government is looking for any victory" to show how much they don't care about sanctions," said Denis Shiryaga, a Russian blogger who writes about technology. The dividends for PM Modi in the run-up to the general elections would be huge - he can deftly type the lunar landing as a springboard of India's ambition to colonise the space. "Seemingly, for the moment, it is just a muted space race between Russia and China, but when both the Russian and the Indian missions land on the moon's crust, it will emit a very different picture of the two allies - a message that both China and US need to take more seriously."

Doctors can now refuse treatment to abusive, violent patients: NMC

Taking a major step towards curbing the ongoing inpatient strikes against doctors, the National Medical Commission (NMC) has issued a notification, stating that doctors can now refuse to treat abusive, violent and violent patients or relatives. The NMC said it will be fully accountable for the actions and omissions of the appropriate law in case of abusive, violent and violent patients or relatives. The NMC document supports the behavior and refusal to treat the patient. Such patients should be referred elsewhere for further treatment. The notification mentioned under the duties of RMPs to wards the patient and his family. It also states that if the patient is violent, the RMP is free to choose whom he will serve, except in case of a life-threatening emergency. RMP should neither neglect the patient nor withdraw from the case without giving adequate notice to the patient and his family. If a change of RMP is needed (for example, the patient needs a procedure), consent should be obtained from the patient himself or the guardian.
